

WARREN FINDINGS DUE NEXT SUNDAY

~~W.A.T.R.~~
Assassination Report to Be Made Public at 6:30 P.M.

~~NY 9/23~~
WASHINGTON, Sept. 23 (AP)

The Warren Commission report on the assassination of President Kennedy will be released for use by newspapers, television, radio and other media at 6:30 P.M. Eastern Daylight Time Sunday, the White House announced today.

Press Secretary George E. Reedy announced the release hour at a briefing attended by about 150 newsmen.

But Mr. Reedy declined to permit publication in advance of the manner in which the report would be released for publication, its size, the methods of distribution and other similar information.

Chief Justice Earl Warren, and the six other members of the Presidential Investigating Commission created nearly 10 months ago, are scheduled to present the massive report—known to be more than 700 pages long—to President Johnson at the White House on Thursday at 11 A.M.

On Sale Monday

The report will go on sale at the Government Printing Office Monday morning, immediately after publication of its contents in Monday morning newspapers.

Hard-bound copies will sell for $3.25 and paper-back copies at $2.50.

This includes only the commission's so-called "summary report," covering a chronology and analysis of the tragedy in Dallas last Nov. 22, the commission's findings as to the perpetrator, and other subjects of investigation, together with a number of illustrations and appendices.

The price does not include any of approximately 20 volumes of hearing transcripts and depositions, which also will be made public. Some of these may be issued with the summary report and others later.

The commission's findings are expected to support the conclusions of the Dallas police, Texas authorities, and the Federal Bureau of Investigation that the assassin was Lee Harvey Oswald, a 24-year-old former Marine. He was slain two days later by a Dallas nightclub owner, Jack Ruby.

Text in Monday's Times

The New York Times plans to print the text of the summary report in Monday's editions.

In addition, The Times will prepare a soft-cover edition of the report to be published by Bantam Books for $1. The first of the 500,000 copies are expected to be on sale at newsstands two days after the report is released.

The Bantam edition will include an introduction by Harrison Salisbury, an assistant managing editor of The New York Times, and other special material prepared by The Times.

The Associated Press plans to publish a hard-cover edition of the summary report for distribution as a public service by its members. Members will pay $1 a book. The retail price will be $1.50 a copy.

Doubleday and Company will publish a hard-cover edition selling for about $4. Distribution to bookstores is scheduled for within 30 days after release of the report.

Popular Books plans to have a soft-cover version on the market within 30 days. No price has been announced.
