DALLAS:  Tumwick romp le

Objection Sustained

The little man with the haunted eyes and putty face was sitting in his white coveralls and shower sandals when lawyer Phil Burleson dashed up to the door of Cell 6 M in the Dallas County Jail Before the guard could unlock the door.
the lawyer shamed. "Jack wove war You ie got a reversal 4 om the court: But the prisoner in 6 M hardly stirred. The crime of the century was coming to life again, and Jack Ruby seemed mystipied by it all.
Cell 6 M -with its single dangling light bulb, 24 hour guard and checkerboard table-iras ween Ruby's home almost from the moment he gunned down Lee Marty Oswald, the assassin of John F. Kenledy, under the stunned eyes of the Dallas police and millions of television viewers. Last week. 35 months later, Texas's highest court threw out Ruby's murder conviction and death sentence. In a fourteen-page, 4,000 -word opinion, the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals held that bumptious Judge Joe B. Brown: who presided at Ruby's trial, made two basic errors that warranted upsetting the verdict.
'Climate of Feeling': First, the court said Brow in should have heeded the defense objections to holding the trial iboDallas. "The Dallas County climate wasiof such strong feeling," one of that theee-judge panel observed in a concur ring i opinion, "that it was not humanly possible to give Ruby a fair and impart tialifrial. Jack Ruby was forced to [stan dod brief under the most adverse, unusual and extraordinary circumstances that this mother of this court has yet had ocsiad sion ${ }^{\frac{1}{2}}$ to consider." Second, the court hell that' Judge Brown should have barred cated that he acted with premeditaton in shooting Oswald-a "confession deemed unacceptable under the Texas criminal code.
The decision means a new trial for Ruby, 55, who has twice been adjudged sarthe by Texas courts. District Attorney Henry Wade promptly announced that he would seek a new murder conviction with a minimum penalty of life imprisonmont. But defensemwayyers said at hat

[^0]
[^0]:    ': : biovilitme of

