Photographic experts, however, have examined this photograph and judged it to be a fraud. This corresponds with a statement Oswald made while under interrogation.

Explaining that Oswald was an expert photographer, Lane quoted him as saying that he (Oswald) would prove that this photograph had been "doctored up."

Lane concluded by saying that "we are now entering a new stage in reference to the Warren Commission Report." He addressed himself to the university community, and asked students to begin a massive petition campaign to President Lyndon Johnson. This petition would demand a reopening of the investigation, and an unlocking of the documents which have been placed in the National Archives, not to be released for public view until September 2039. (Johnson made this policy on the belief that these documents could be harmful to people now alive. By the year 2039, no one will be left to be harmed. Lane's reply to this was that the documents could only harm the assassins.)

Lane's final statement was an appeal to the students of the universities to sign this petition, and to take it before Johnson this Nov. 22.
