- 195,000 copies in print

NATIONAL REVIEW
" . . . it seems to me that Lane has proved his point against the Commission. It just did not do its job properly . . . What is needed now is a commission to investigate the Warren Commission and its findings."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR
"This is a troubling book, the more deeply troubling because well done. It does not prove Lee Harvey Oswald innocent. But it reminds us that his guilt was not established by the usual processes of law; and that uncomfortable uncertainties and contradiction infest solutions of the Kennedy assassination."

SATURDAY REVIEW SYNDICATE
" . . . a penetrating critique based on more than two years of on-the-spot investigation."

BOOK WEEK
" . . . three cheers for Mark Lane. His work is not without a trace of that stature we call heroic. Three cheers. Because the game is not yet over. Nor the echo of muffled drums. Nor the memory of the riderless horse."

THE CRITIC
" . . . a powerful and important book, exciting reading."

N.Y. TIMES BOOK REVIEW
" . . . well-documented, persuasive and restrained."
