FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

WARREN COMMISSION LAWYER CALLS STAR WITNESS "SCREWBALL"

In a debate Friday night, Joseph A. Ball, counsel for the Warren Commission, described the Commission's sole identifying witness to the shooting of police officer J.D. Tippitt as "an utter screwball".

After an audience of 2000 heard Mark Lane read portions of Helen Louise Markham's testimony at Beverly Hills High School auditorium, Ball conceded that he personally questioned Mrs. Markham, the only witness who stated that she saw Oswald shoot Tippitt, and that he considered her to be "an utter screwball".

Lane pointed out, however, that based upon Ball's interrogation of Mrs. Markham, the Commission concluded that her testimony was "reliable" (p. 168 of the Report). Oswald was arrested in connection with the murder of Tippitt and was subsequently charged with the murder of President Kennedy as well.

Lane, who heads the Citizens' Committee of Inquiry, an organization conducting an independent investigation into the events surrounding the assassination, heralded Ball's remarks as the first crack in the myth perpetrated by the Warren Commission. "The passage of time," he stated, "will show that the Commission findings will rank along with that of the French government's original conclusions that Dreyfus was a traitor."
