Two documentaries of note highlight the video listings for this weekend. First up is a two-hour special titled "A Re-examination of the Warren Commission Findings: A Minority Report," which KTTV (Channel 11) airs at 7:30 tonight.

Five authors confront each other for the first time to argue various aspects of the commission's findings which were issued in September, 1964. Host and discussion leader will be Jim Bishop, author of "The Day Lincoln Was Shot" and currently at work on a new book, "The Day Kennedy Was Shot."
