

'RESTING' IN HOSPITAL

Shaw Awaits New Move by Garrison

The public and attorneys for Clay L. Shaw today awaited the next move by Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison in his probe of what he says was a plot to assassinate President John F. Kennedy.

The DA was expected to file a bill of information this week charging Clay L. Shaw with participation in the plot.

MEANWHILE, Shaw was "resting well" in his room at Southern Baptist Hospital. The former director of International Trade Mart checked into the hospital Saturday afternoon for rest and unspecified treatment.

A three-judge Criminal District Court panel ruled Friday after a tense four-day hearing that the district attorney's office had presented "sufficient evidence" to establish probable cause that a crime has been committed.

Dr. Martin Palmer, Shaw's physician, said his patient was not under an oxygen tent as had been rumored.

The doctor said the 54-year-old Shaw would be hospitalized long enough to run medical tests.

EDWARD WEGMANN, one of Shaw's attorneys, said his client was admitted to the hospital for a regular check-up and rest. He also said Shaw suffered a recurrence of back trouble stemming from an old injury.

During the spectacular hearing covered by an international corps of reporters, Garrison put two witnesses on the stand to testify they saw Shaw with Lee Harvey Oswald, the man cited by the Warren Commission as having acted alone in the assassination of the President.

Garrison disputes the Warren version. He contends there was a plot, and Shaw was part of it.

PERRY R. Russo, a 25-year-old Baton Rouge insurance salesman, testified he was in the room during September of 1963 when Shaw, Oswald and David W. Ferrie plotted to kill Kennedy.

The other major witness presented by Garrison was Vernon Bundy Jr., 29, a paroled drug addict. Bundy told the court he was preparing a shot of heroin when he saw Shaw meet Oswald at the Lake Pontchartrain seawall and hand over what looked like a roll of money. END

Arrestment Wednesday for Dean Andrews

Dean A. Andrews Jr., indicted last week for perjury by the Orleans Parish Grand Jury, will be arraigned before Judge Frank J. Shea in Section G of Criminal District Court at 10:30 a. m. Wednesday.

Andrews was an assistant Jefferson Parish district attorney until he was suspended last week following his second grand jury subpoena for questioning in connection with Orleans Parish Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison's investigation into the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

Although grand jury proceedings are not made public, Andrews is reportedly being questioned in regard to a telephone call he received in November of 1963 from a man whom he identified as Clay Bertrand, asking Andrews to defend Lee Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of Kennedy.

Garrison has stated that Clay Bertrand and Clay Shaw, former director of the International Trade Mart, are the same man, but Andrews has so far not publicly connected the two, or even admitted to knowing Shaw, one of three men accused by Garrison of plotting to kill the president.

Assign Andrews To Shea's Court

The trial of Dean Adams Andrews Jr., indicted for perjury Thursday by the Orleans Parish Grand Jury in connection with District Attorney Jim Garrison's assassination probe, has been assigned to Criminal District Court Judge Frank J. Shea.

Andrews will be arraigned within 10 days.

He was questioned before the Grand Jury for two hours Thursday, his second appearance before the jury in two weeks.

ANDREWS TOLD the Warren Commission that a man named Clay Bertrand had telephoned him after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and asked him to defend Lee Harvey Oswald, the man named by the commission as the lone assassin.

Garrison has accused Clay L. Shaw, a wealthy New Orleans businessman, of using Clay Bertrand as an alias and of conspiring to commit the Kennedy murder. Shaw, following a four-day preliminary hearing, was bound over for trial by a three-judge panel yesterday.

The Warren Commission investigation failed to turn up a Clay Bertrand.

Andrews, who told the commission he had seen the man he thought was Bertrand on two occasions, apparently
