<sup>1/</sup> Estimated aggregate royalties (nine authors) $2,045,000

<sup>3/</sup> Schiller and an associate acted as agents at 35% for the sale of ghost-written "memoirs" by Jack Ruby, as members of the Ruby family told the Warren Commission in testimony taken in 1964.

<sup>4/</sup> Schiller and Lewis collaborated in producing a Capital "documentary" record on the assassination but unlike the critics who waived their artists' royalties in favor of the Kennedy Library Schiller and Lewis pocketed their earnings, on the ground that "we have to live."
