

To Jerry, Gerry and Dave from Harold Weisberg 2/15/93

I started ~~the~~ to write my rabbi friend and then got into the Epstein reprints by Carroll & Graf, all three of his books with added epilogues and appendices and a preface.

All in all it is, I think, a remarkable self-exposure, exposure of sick self-concept and utter contempt for reality.

I am still incredulous that he would make this kind of spectacle of himself to those who know anything at all about the assassination, its investigations and the information available.

He can't not know anything about the vast volume of what is available yet what he has added does not reflect its existence.

Can whatever he makes out of this explain it? I hardly think so.

Maybe he is trying to justify himself?

I find no reasonable explanation for his demeaning himself this way.

But on the other hand, maybe he really does not realize that he is demeaning himself.

H.W.
Epstein