Dear Miss Meagher:

It was good of you to take the trouble to write me and to set the record straight on the publicity on Mark Lane's book. As you noted, I did qualify my comment and I rather imagine that a person as diligent as yourself would have more information. As a matter of fact, I thought of you while writing the review but did not know how to reach you. I am glad to have your address.

I was aware of the story about the film but I did not have the UPI story. Some time soon I may call on you for some guidance in our attempts to keep this fascinating story alive.

Yours sincerely,
