Dear Miss Meagher:

The preparation of index for the Warren report is certainly an ambitious--and prodigious--undertaking, and it is surprising that it was not made part of the original project. Brookings, however, publishes only the results of its own research, and does not have funds for the kind of project you propose.

I will be happy to circulate your letter to a few people who may be helpful. Meanwhile, if you haven't written to the American Historical Association to inquire whether it would seek foundation support for your venture, you might do so.

Sincerely,

Herbert C. Morton
