

LOOK
10/7/69

Letters continued

spirit and passion. For one thing, we considered him a vulgar American, and we don't like Americans. . . . And as far as Leander Perez is concerned, he was literally laughed and hooted off the Lake Front campus of LSU in New Orleans.

GERALD TASSIN
New Orleans, La.

Clay Shaw, in his forbearance and lack of malice, has reminded a gentle man even after his long ordeal at the hands of gutter-fighters. If the law offers him no opportunity for redress, if he can be ruined for no fault other than having a private life that makes him vulnerable to shoddy small-timers like Garrison, then something is dreadfully wrong with the law.

SYLVIA MEACHER
New York, N.Y.

Did the Louisiana Bar Association condone Jim Garrison's wrongdoings? Or is he immune from criticism?

HOWARD PALMER
Hartford, Conn.

MOON LANDING

C. P. Snow [The Moon Landing, Look, August 26] totally ignores the possibility of the development of techniques which would make voyages to other solar systems possible. He mentions the enormous amount of time such a voyage would take "at the speed of Apollo." In a certain sense, Apollo only coasted to the moon. An interstellar voyage would be undertaken at speeds tremendously greater. The technology Snow dislikes will make it possible.

C. P. MITCHELL
Brooklyn, N.Y.

Do

something constructive.

REMAINED

With Weller® Dual Heat Soldering Gun kits you can put other kits together in a jiffy. Models, hi-fi sets, hobbycraft kits are wired with ease . . . and much more fun. You make a quick, clean, professional job of home and auto electrical repairs, too. Because quality-built Weller dual heat guns start heating the moment you squeeze the trigger, deliver more heat with a firmer squeeze. Choose one of these kits for yourself or a "constructive-minded" friend . . . at your hardware dealer now.

