Dear Sylvia,

Here is a "cutie" for you, first spotted by a friend of mine. See the enclosed xerox from a page in Mary Gallagher's book My Life with Jacqueline Kennedy, (c 1969). Note the typographical error -- or typographical truth.

Inside the cover of this book, on page 351 find the following:

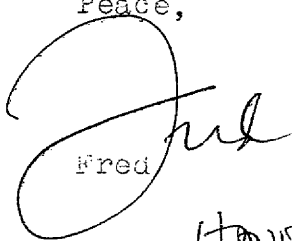

"She (JBK) told me how invaluable we both were for the Kennedy Library and the archives, cautioning that we should "be careful" about our transportation in cars. "You should get yourselves a good driver," she said, "so that nothing ever happens to you."

That rather puzzled me, but I quickly assured her that we did have two whom we considered tops -- Joe Giordano and "Bootsie" Miller."

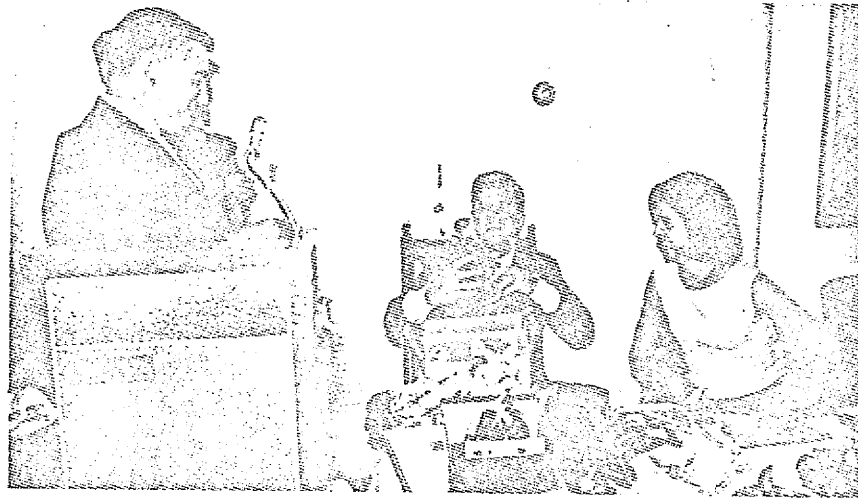

Also, page 319:

"I was to dash along with Muggsy (O'Leary-S.S. guard) and his helpers the White House drivers, Joe Giordano and "Bootsie" Miller, who were already moving the luggage from the ~~hotel~~ to the cars. "(Fort Worth, 11/22/63)

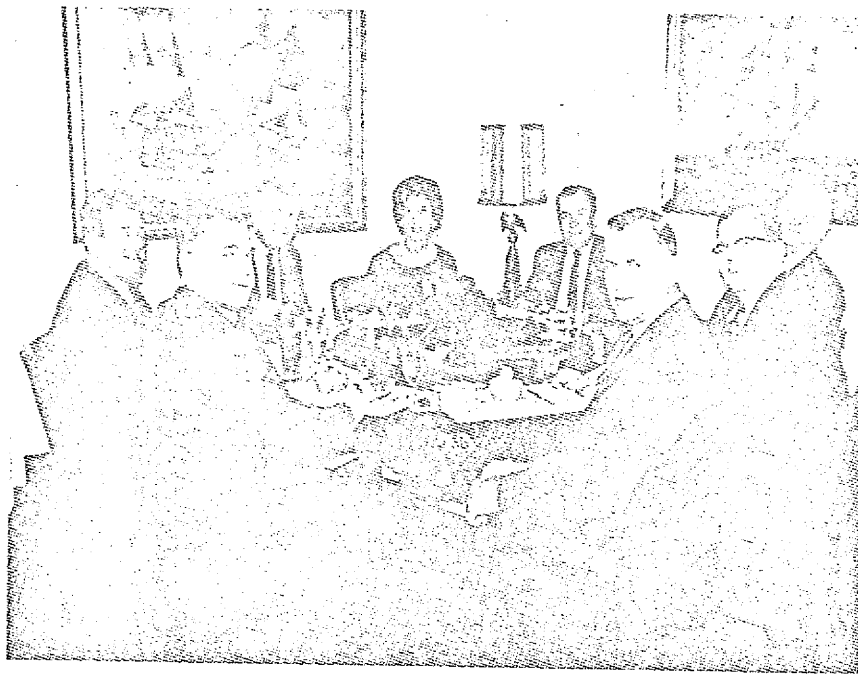

Peace,

Fred

HAVE NOW GOT PHONE INTERVIEWS WITH ALL OF THE MOTORCYCLE ESCORT GUYS -- THE ONES NEAR THE LIMOUSINE AND MY "THEORY" IS STILL HOLDING UP PRETTY GOOD. WHEN I GET IT ALL TOGETHER I'LL SEND YOU RESULTS.
