

Walker Escapes Assassin's Bullet

DALLAS, April 11 (AP)— an unseen rifleman fired through a window and missed former Maj. Gen. Edwin A.
Walker by a scant inch in his home last night.

Mr. Walker brushed fragments of glass from his hair as reporters arrived shortly after the incident, which he described as an attempted assassination. It happened about 9:30 o'clock.

The police said that a slight movement by Mr. Walker, at a desk working on his income tax report, presumably saved him.

"Somebody had a perfect bead on him," Detective Ira Van Cleave said. "Whoever it was certainly wanted to kill him."

The bullet, from a 30.06 rifle, was fired from an alley behind the Walker home. It went through wood framing the glass window.

United Press International Telephoto Edwin A. Walker after the incident yesterday morning.