

This History's Mother Is Marguerite Oswald

An unusual book about a most unusual woman is the obvious description of MOTHER IN HISTORY by Jean Stafford ($3.95, Farrar, Straus and Giroux).

The result of a three-day interview with Fort Worth's Mrs. Marguerite Oswald, mother of the accused killer of President Kennedy, this book is a rambling monologue for the most part.

However, the author, by extraordinary editings and journalistic styling, is able to give the reader insight into the personality, thinking and life of the mother of the man accused of killing the President of the United States.

Summing up: A good book for anyone really interested in the type home from which Oswald came.
