

United Press International

WASHINGTON: Four thousand Army and National Guard troops moved into the nation's capital at President Johnson's order Friday night after a day of looting, burning and rioting by roving bands of Negro youths. Above, soldiers patrol the Capitol.

The New York Times (by Don Charles)

NEW YORK CITY: Violence erupted sporadically in the Negro ghettos and in the midtown area but massive police strength kept it generally in hand. Above, on a Harlem street, an unidentified man accuses police of having beaten another man unmercifully.

Associated Press

MISSISSIPPI: Negro leader Charles Evers walks past city police in Jackson last Thursday night after his pleas with young Negroes near Jackson State College helped avert a riot.