Appeals Court Sets Ruby Case

Austin, Texas, June 15 (AP)—Jack Ruby's death sentence appeal in the killing of Lee Harvey Oswald will be argued before the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals June 24.

In a highly unusual move, the court today set the hearing date only two days after District Court in Dallas ruled that Ruby, 55, was legally sane.

The three-judge appellate court normally hears such cases only on Wednesdays. It indicated it would not hand down its ruling in the case until the fall.

Ruby was sentenced to death in Dallas March 14, 1964, for the

The Criminal Appeals Court is the highest in Texas for noncivil matters.

The appeal of the conviction had become ensnared in a series of legal complications, among
