Dear Mr. Munden,

Scarecrow Press has just made available to me a clipping from The American Archivist of October 1966 with your review of my Subject Index. Although I saw your review only belatedly, I was most gratified by your generous evaluation of the Index and happy to know that it was serving the purpose I hoped it would fulfill.

You might like to have the enclosed errata sheets, which I have been distributing personally whenever I learned that a particular individual was using the Subject Index.

I should perhaps mention also that the Index is now out of print. Unfortunately, Scarecrow Press has decided not to undertake a second printing, although there is still some demand from individual purchasers. If you know of any publishing house that might be interested in reissuing the Index, I should be grateful for any suggestions.

With all good wishes,

Yours sincerely,
