L

18

THE NEW YORK TIMES.

Transcript of the Interview Granted by

INESDAY, NOVEMBER 29, 1961.

dy to Soviet Government Newspaper

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28 (AP) -Following is the transcript of an interview with President Kennedy by Aleksei I. Adzhubei, editor of Izvestia, as made public by the White House:

lic by the White House: MR. ADZHUBEI — Mr. Pres-ident, I am happy to get this interview from you, and I would like to tell you quite frankly that your election to the high post of President of the Linked States office was met with great hope by public opnion in our country. In connection with this, I would like to ask you the following question— THE PRESIDENT — May I just say that I appreciate very much your coming to the United States. I also appreciate the opportunity to talk, through you and through your news-paper, to the people of the Soviet Union. I think that com-munication, an exchange of views, an honest report of what our countries are like and what they want and what the people wish, is in the interests of both our countries and in the inter-ests of peace. So we are deour countries and in the inter-ests of peace. So we are de-lighted to have this opportunity. MR. ADZHUBEI - I would like to ask you the following question. Mr. President, during the election campaign, on sev-eral occasions you expressed good intentions with respect to the necessity of improving So-viet-American relations. On the occasion of your inauguration as President of a great country, Nikita Khrushchev, Chair-man of the Council of Ministers of the U. S. S. R., and Leonid Brezhnev, Chairman of the Breamev, Chairman of the Presidium of the Supreme So-viet of the U. S. S. R., in their message to you expressed the hope that by their joint efforts our countries can succeed in radically improving our rela-tions and the international sit-uation uation.

uation. They also expressed confi-dence that we can, step by step, liquidate the existing suspicion and distrust, and thus bring co-operation between our peoples. On its part, the Soviet Government is always ready to support any good endeavor in that di-rection, and to do its best for the establishment of a stable peace in the world, in order that all peoples may live in friendship and without hatred among them. Mr. President, what do you think about the present state or Soviet-American relations, and what in your opinion must be soviet-American relations, and what in your opinion must be done by the American as well as the Soviet Governments to improve the relations between our two countries.

President Gives Views On U. S.-Soviet Relations

THE PRESIDENT—Well, I would say that the relations today are not as satisfactory as I had hoped they would be when I first took office. In fact, one of the first things that I one of the first things that I did on becoming President was to commit the United States to an earnest effort to achieve a satisfactory agreement with the Soviet Union on the cessation of nuclear tests. As a result of that effort, at the end of March, we sent our repre-sentatives, along with Great Britain's, to Geneva for the first time with a complete treaty which we tabled for discussion. I had hoped that this would be one area where we could make real progress. It would lessen the contamination of the air, it would be a first step toward disarmament, and I felt that if we could achieve an agreement in this area, we could then move on to the other areas of disarmament which required action.

We were not successful. And as you know, we were in fact still at the table in Geneva in August when, still negotiat-ing, the Soviet Union resumed its tests, tests which must have been in preparation for many months, at the very time that the conversations were going on. So that has been a disappointment

In addition, Berlin and Ger-many have become, I think, areas of heightened crisis since the Vienna meeting, and I think extremely dangerous to the peace, which I am sure_I know -both of our people want. I think that the Soviet Union and the United States should live together in peace. We are large countries, energetic peo-ple, we are steadily providing in both our countries an in-crease in the standard of living. If we can keep the peace for twenty years, the life of the people of the Soviet Union and the life of the people of the United States will be far richer and will be far happier as the standard of living steadily rises.

ĸ

Communizing of World Is Cited as Key Difficulty

Where we feel the difficulty comes is the effort by the Socomes is the effort by the So-viet Union to communize, in a sense, the entire world. If the Soviet Union were merely seeking to protect its own na-tional interests, to protect its own national security, and would permit other countires to live as they wish to live in peace_then I beneve that the problems which now cause so much tension would take away much tension would lade away. We want the people of the Soviet Union to live in peace we want the same for our own we want the same for our own people. It is this effort to push outward the Communist sys-tem, on to country after coun-try, that represents. I think, the great threat to peace. If the Soviet Union looked only to its national interest and to provid-ing a better life for its people under conditions of peace, I think there would be nothing that would disturb the relations between the Soviet Union and between the Soviet Union and the United States.

MR. ADZHUBEI — That is very interesting. However, as a citizen of the Soviet Union, as a member of the Communist as a memory of the communist party, I cannot agree with you, in that part of your answer where you are saying that we are trying to "communize" the world. At the twenty-second party congress, which, in our pinion, was a historic event,

AS PRESIDENT GAVE INTERVIEW: Aleksei L Adzhubei, right, editor of Izvestia and son-in-law of Premier Khrushchev, holding interview with President Kennedy

Saturday in Hyannis Port, Mass. Second from the right is Georgi Bolshikov, Russian interpreter, and in the center is Alex Akalovsky, a State Department interpreter.

U. S. Dispute With Cuba A Matter of Free Elections

THE PRESIDENT—May I just say, without getting into a debate, that the United States supports the idea that every people shall have the right to make a free choice as to the kind of government they want. In the case of Cuba, let me remind you that the Castro revolution was originally supported by the great majority of the people. When Castro was leading the revolution, the statement was made that there would be free elections, and freedom for the people and progress for the people and progress for the people. But Castro has not kept that comminiment. Until the present Government of Cuba will allow free and honest elections, in our opinion, it cannot claim to repple. That is our dispute with Cuba.

Mr. [Cheddi] Jagan on the other hand, who was recently elected Prime Minister in British Guiana, is a Marxist, but the United States doesn't object because that choice was made by an honest election, which he won.

If the people of any country choose to follow a Communist system in a free election, after a fair opportunity for a number of views to be presented, the United States would accept that. What we find to be objectionable, and a threat to the peace, is when a system is imposed by a small militant group by subversion, infiltration, and all the rest.

If the Soviet Union and this country could develop their own resources, and if you permitted the peoples of the world to develop in the way they wish to develop, then, if any nation should choose a communist system, we would recognize and accept that. And if they chose another system, then we would hope that you would recognize and accept that, too. If we could get that on both sides, I believe the Soviet Union and the United States, which have so much to gain from peace, could live in peace.

All Soviet Citizens

Described as Politicians

MR. ADZHUBEI — I understand you, Mr. President, and I am very happy to hear these words from you, because as you know. the future of the world

we adopted a program of Communist development, and we said that we are against any export of the revolution, but we are also against any export of counter-revolution

If counter-revolution. If we burn to facts, there are many countries in the world in the affairs of which, from our point of view, the United States is interfering. Yesterday, I saw a TV program which was being shown to millions of Americans, where your commentator asserted that the whole world is under complete threat of the Communists to capture the world. We would like to see an end put to this situation.

Our Government and our party believe that every people chooses such a system of government as they like. Austria chose the capitalist way of development, although American and Soviet troops were there. But Ciba has chosen another way of development. And we would be happy if you. Mr. President, were to state that the interference in the affairs of Cuba was a mistake. We hope that the Cuban people will consolidate their own way of lifeas well as the Dominican Republic, Ecuador, Brazil and many other countries.

depends in many respects on the relations between the United States and our country. Let the people decide what way of development they want to choose. However, I would like to draw your attention to the following instorical parallel. When the Bolsheviks, headed by V. I Lenin, came to power, all the capitalist world was shouting that they were plotters and that there was no freedom in Russia, but in forty-four years our country became a great power. But this is not the issue. I would like to ask you another velopment they want to choose. I would like to ask you another question. THE PRESIDENT - You are a newspaper man and a politician.

MR. ADZHUBEI - In our country every citizen is a pol-itician, because we like our country very much. The young and the old like the Socialist sysand the old like the Socialist sys-tem of our country and we are ready to fight for it until the victorious end. You are proud of your country, Mr. President, and we are also very much proud of our own country, and we are very proud of our party, and we are proud of V. I. Lenin.

Mr. President, sometimes it's said that in order to improve the relations between our coun-tries, it is necessary to start, with the settlement of small problems. Others believe that too many small issues have accumulated and that perhaps it would be better to start with a big act. We believe that such a big act was the visit by Nikita Sergeyevich Khrushchev to the United States in 1959. But unfortunately the results of that trip were not completely satis-factory, Mr. President, what is your attitude toward the idea of concluding a pact of peace be-tween the United States and the Soviet Union? That would be a great step forward.

Germany and Berlin Called 'Most Critical Area'

THE PRESIDENT-I think we should have not only an agreement between our coun-tries, but take those steps which make peace possible. I don't think that paper, and words on paper, are as significant as look-ing at those areas which pro-vide tension between our two systems and seeing if we can dispel that tension dispel that tension. One of those areas now is the problem of Germany and Berlin. If we could make progress there, then in my opinion it, would p vide a most imports at step, in improving our relations to other areas.

I stated that if we had been able to get an agreement on the nuclear tests cessation, that would lead to other agreements on disarmament. If we can make an agreement successfully which provides peace in Central Europe, if we can conclude our efforts in Laos and insure a government and country which are neutral and independent, as Chairman Khrushchev and I agreed at Vienna, then we would be able to move into other areas of tension.

I believe, as I have said, if we can now make an agreement on a satisfactory basis on Berlin and Germany, which is the most critical area—because it represents a matter of great interest to both our countries, and great concern to our peoples—then we could take other steps. If we can solve the problem of Ger-many and Berlin, I believe we can find our relations substantially improved.

MR. ADZHUBEI — Thank you, Mr. President, this is a most worthy thought. Especially because, as I understand you, you intend to talk seriously on these problems with our Government. Let me say that the German problem is of great im-German problem is of great im-portance to our country, for many reasons. Not only for strictly political reasons, and not only because of prestige considerations. As you know we have allies—Poland, Czechoslovakia and a number of other countries. However, to date we haven't heard any sober voices from the West affirming the integrity of the borders existing in Europe, and it would be very important to hear that,

Soviet Representative

Cites Russian War Losses

But there is also another as-But there is also another as-pect to the German problem. In our country, in the Soviet Union, there is not a single family that did not lose some kin in the war. You know we are trying to put out the smoldering coals of the last war in Central Europe. But we do not wish only to play the role of a po-litical fireman, as it were, though it is very important. In the heart of every Soviet citizen, in the soul of every Soviet citizen, in the soul of every Soviet citizen, there are, as you know, coals still burning from the last war, and they are burnthe fast war, and they are burn-ing his soul and do not let him sleep quietly. Thus, solu-tion of the question of a peace treaty is the hope and tran-quillity in the heart of every Soviet man. After all, we are still singing songs about those who did not come home from the war. I know that you par-ticipated in the war, that you are a hero of the war, and this is why I am talking to you in such lofty words. But this, if you wish, is a sideline.

Mr. President, in 1958, if I am not mistaken, our Govern-ment suggested to the Govern-ment of the United States-of course, the previous Administration was in power then-that the trade relations be-tween our countries be normalized. Now, as you know, the trade relations between our countries are in a very lamentable condition. Before I left for the United States, I had a con-versation with my friends from the Ministry of Foreign Trade, and they asked me to inquire from you whether there are any from you whether there are any prospects of improving the trade relations between our countries. After all there is a very old truth: together with goods, together with the ex-change of goods, there also come better relations among memories. peoples.

THE PRESIDENT - Let me THE PRESIDENT — Let me say that I know that the Soviet Union suffered more from World War II than any coun-try. It represented a terrible blow, and the casualties af-fected every family, including many of the families of those new in government. now in government.

now in government. I will say that the United States also suffered, though not so heavily as the Soviet Union, quite obviously. My brother was killed in Europe. My sister's husband was killed in Europe. The point is that that war is over now. We want to prevent another war arising out of Ger-many. I think the important thing between the United States and the U. S. S. R. is not to and the U. S. S. R. is not to create the kind of tension and pressure which in the name of settling World War II increases the chances of a conflict be-tween the Soviet Union and its allies on the one hand and the United States and its allies on the other. What we should at-tempt to do is work out a solu-tion through negotiation which will make it possible to keep the peace in Central Europe. And that is the aim of this government.

'Symbolic' Step by U. S. To Ease Trade Is Recalled

Now in regard to trade, one of the first things I did on be-coming President was to change governmental party which pro-vided for the admission of crab-ment. This was not a matter of great dollar value, but had some surbolic important. some symbolic importance, and was a matter which Chairman Khrushchev had spoken about on several occasions.

My own judgment is that, if we can solve the problems that we are now talking about, par-ticularly in Berlin, and ease the ticularly in Berlin, and ease the general tension, trade will then increase. What has diministed trade in recent months has been the difficulty which we have experienced in Germany and Berlin. I would hope that trade could be expanded, and the judgment it would expand tha-mediately, if we can bring about a peaceful and satisfactory solu-tion to the interests of all in Germany and Berlin. MR. ADZHUBEI-I shall communicate your words to our readers with a feeling of satisfaction. We have always thought faction. We have always thought and still think or the Americans as the realists. It is your ener-gy, your realistic approach, that has helped you to create such a wealthy country. But now I would like to ask you frankly, Mr. President, because this idea was expressed by you in several instances, whether you seriouswas expressed by you in several instances, whether you serious-ly think that the social changes which are happening in the world today are the result of actions in which Moscow has its hands.

MR. ADZHUBEI-I shall com-

I would like to remind you of one thing. You know, in France when the bourgeois revolution won, the aristocratic Europe accused France of every mortal sin. When the October Revolution won, all the world of the rich condemned that revolution. But this revolution won! You mentioned that a Marxist came to power in British Guicame to power in British Gui-ana. Do you think that events occurred there according to our instructions? Of course, we can't give you any assurances that there won't be social changes in the world, although you will call it the result of the "hands" of Moscow-THE PRESIDENT - Let me say as I indicated if the neo-say, as I indicated, if the peo-ple of these countries make a free choice, that they prefer the Communist or Socialist or any other kind of system, then the United States and the people of the United States accept that. That is why I give the example of British Guiana.

But of course I do not hold and I do not say that the Soviet Union is responsible for all the changes that are coming in the world. For example, since the end of World War II, the Brit-ish Empire has been turned into independent states, I think fifteen/ of them. The French Community has been turned into invention on independent into twenty-one independent into twenty-one many changes in the world. Western Burope has loined closer together in the Common Market.

These are not the result of These are not the result of the Communists' efforts. There are many changes, as I have said, throughout the world. Peo-ple want to live in different ways. That is what we want, also. If they have a fair op-portunity to make a choice, if they choose to support com-munism, we accept that. What we object to is the at-

What we object to is the attempt to impose communism by force, or a situation where once a people may have fallen under do not give them a fair oppor-tunity to make another choice.

Communist Regimes Said to Deny Free Choice

We had been under the im-pression that this Yalta agree-ment and the Potsdam agreement provided for a free choice for the peoples of Eastern Europe. They do not, in our opinion, today, have a free choice. You may argue that they may want to live under communism, but if they do not, they are not given the opportunity to change. We believe that if the Soviet Union — without attempting to impose the Communist system — will permit the people of the world to live as they wish to live, relations between the Soviet Union and the United States will then be very satisfactory, and our two peoples, which now live in danger, will be able to live in peace and with a greatly increased standard of living. And I believe we have such vast economic opportunities now in both of our countries that we should consider how we can get along and not attempt to impose our views, one on the other or on anyone else.

MR. ADZHUBEI-Of course. Mr. President, I do not expect in such a short period of time I would succeed in converting you to another belief just as you did not expect to convert me. You have talked with our Chairman, the First Secretary of the Central Committee of the Communist party of the Soviet Union, and he did not succeed in convincing you, nor did he try to do so.

This, as you know, is a mat-ter of personal outlook. One man may consider certain elec-tions to be free, while another would consider those elections noncercoratic. For example, in a number of countries of Latin America, great revolutionary changes are taking place. For a long period of time you con-sidered that [Generalissimo Rafael Leonidas] Truiillo was elected in a democratic way.

You have been saying the same about the regime of the Shah of Iran as well. But let us not engage in an argument and let us turn to the next question.

MR. ADZHUBEI-Mr. President, may I ask you the follow-ing question? It is well known that the Soviet Government has declared its readiness to accept any proposal of the Western powers on international control and inspection, if agreement on general and complete disarmament is reached. At the same time, the Soviet Government does not exclude the possibility of reaching agreement on a number of measures which may decrease the danger of war and which could be effected in the nearest future.

Such proposals are, for instance, the proposals on the freezing of military budgets, re-nunciation of the use of nununciation of the use of nu-clear weapons, the conclusion of a nonaggression pact between NATO and the Warsaw Pact countries, withdrawal of foreign trooms from the territories of

The Interview's Highlights

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 28-Following are highlights of President Kennedy's replies to questions and comments by

- Aleksei I. Adzhubei, editor of Izvestia: Soviet-United States Relations—They are "not as satisfac-tory" as the President had hoped they would be when he took office. He would like to see the United States and the Soviet Union living together in peace, but the difficulty comes in the "effort by the Soviet Union to communize, in a sense, the entire world."
- Berlin-He indicated that international control of the highways from West Germany to West Berlin would be desir-able. However, a treaty signed by the Soviet Union with the East Germans giving them authority over the access routes would not bring "peace" but only increase the
- danger of war. Peace Pact—The President indicated some interest in an exchange of peace declarations between the North Atlantic
- exchange of peace declarations between the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Warsaw Pact countries. Nuclear Tests—He again expressed disappointment at the Soviet Union's resumption of nuclear tests, saying he had looked to agreement on the cessation of tests as a first step toward general disarmament. Recognition of East Germany—"The reason why we have reluctant to recognize East Germany as a sovereign power," he said, "is that we do not recognize the division of Germany." However, he noted that there would be "two Germanys as long as the Soviet Union helieves "two Germanys as long as the Soviet Union believes that that is in her interest."
- that that is in ner interest."
  Soviet Satellite Nations—The Yalta and Potsdam agreements provided for a "free choice" for the peoples of Eastern Europe but free elections have not been held.
  Trade—If present problems; particularly that of Berlin, can be solved and tensions eased, trade between the United States and the Soviet Union can be expanded.
  Onbe—Wides Costro failed to been his promises and hold
- Onliced States and the Soviet Union can be expanded. Ouba-Fide Castro failed to keep his promises and hold free electors after taking control in Cuba. "As long as the p Sent Government of Cuba does not permit free and onest elections," Mr. Kennedy said, "it cannot, in my opinion, claim that it represents the majority of the ve other countries, the establish-ment of a nuclear-free zone, or measures against the danger of surprise attack.

What, in your views, are the prospects of general and complete disarmament, and of decreasing international tensions?

THE PRESIDENT-Inasmuch as the Soviet Union and the United States agreed in the declaration of principles in September, at the end of the Mc-Cloy-Zorin talks, on the goal of general and complete disarma-ment, the problem now becomes ment, the problem now becomes an attempt to implement that goal, stage by stage. The Soviet Union and the United States have a basic dis-agreement which must be re-solved on this question. We believe that there must be ade-quate inspection, to make sure that each side is disarming and that each side is disarming and staying in accordance with the agreements which they make. The Soviet Union has stated that it will permit us, or the international body, to inspect those weapons which are de-stroyed but will not permit us to carry out an inspection to see what weapons remain. One side could destroy 100 bombers but still have 1,000 or 2,000 bombers left.

Inspection of All Arms Is Termed Necessary

If you are really going to provide for orderly disarmament it seems to me you have to in-spect not only those weapons which have been destroyed but also these weapons that remain. Otherwise we do not have any guarantee of security for either side. If we can agree to an effective inspection system so that each country can know that the other is living up to its agreement, then, in my opinion, we can move into general and complete disarmament.

That is why I thought it so vitally important that we make an agreement on cessation of nuclear testing as the first step, and then proceed step by step through atomic weapons, through missiles, through the level of ground forces, the navy, and all the rest. If we can get agreement on that, then we can move toward general and com-plete disarmament.

I think it would be helpful if NATO and the Warsaw Pact engaged in a commitment to live in peace with each other. I every conceivable step to pre-vent surprise attack. I believe that if the relations between our countries can be normalized, there will be less military buildup on both sides, but we can-not now withdraw our troops from Europe, way back across the Atlantic Ocean, when you the Atlantic Ocean, when you merely withdraw your troops to the Soviet Union, which is only a few hundred miles away.

Only a few hundred miles away. That is why we need some understanding of what is going to be the situation in Berlin and in Germany. And that is why I hope negotiations will take place between our Gov-ernments quickly and will come to a successful conclusion to a successful conclusion.

The statement has been made on many occasions that we object to the signing of a peace treaty, that we regard that as a belligerent act. That is not the point. It is our view that the statement which the four powers made at Geneva in 1955 providing for the reunification of Commune represents the of Germany represents the soundest policy. To divide a country, to divide a city, to put up a wall in a city, we believe, only increases tensions rather than diminish them. And we believe that, if the German people were permitted to be reunified, ade-quate steps could be taken to protect the security of all involved.

Signing of Pact Viewed As Step to Raise Tension

As Step to Raise reason Now we recognize that today the Soviet Union does not intend to permit reunification, and that as long as the Soviet Union has that policy Germany will not be reunified. The ques-tion now is whether the Soviet Union will sign a treaty with Union will sign a treaty with the East German authorities which will increase tension rather than diminish it.

As I said in my speech at the United Nations, we recog-nize that the Soviet Union can sign any treaty it wishes with the East German authorities. What we find to be so dan-gerous, however, is the claim that that treaty will deny us our rights in West Berlin, rights which we won through the war, rights which were agreed to by the Soviet Union, the United States, Britain and France at the conclusion of the war, and which we believe should be con-tinued. What we find to be so dan-

But if you sign a treaty with East Germany and those rights are subject to the wishes of the East German authorities, it seems to me that that is going to increase tension. If the So viet Union attempts in that treaty to turn over jurisdic-tion over West Berlin to the Last German authorities, against the wisnes of the peo-ple of West Berlin - if the lines of communication and access, from West Berlin to the outside world and the West, are completely under the conare completely under the con-trol of East Germap authorities to cut any time they so wish —then this treaty does not bring peace, it only increases the danger. Now I am hopeful that, in the conversations and negotia-ations which we hope to have Now 1 am hopeful that, in the conversations and negotia-ations which we hope to have with the Soviet Union, assur-ances will be given which will permit us to continue to exer-cise the rights which we now have in West Berlin, as a re-sult of the existing four-power agreement, and will permit free access in and out of the city. We do not want to stay in West Berlin if the people there do not want us to stay. But they want us to stay. But they want us to stay. But they want us, to stay. When they decide that they don't want us, we will leave. But as long as they wish us to stay, it seems to me that the rights which are ours by agreement should be maintained.

I am hopeful that the Soviet Union will agree with this, and in particular will agree to permit supplies and people to move in and out of West Berlin freety. Then we can in my opinion, reach a peaceful settlement in the center of Europe, and if we can reach an agreement on this guestion, then I believe our relations will greatly improve. MR. ADZHUBEI — You just going to ask. But I cannot a specialist in the field of disarmament, but as I understand it, the McCloy-Zorin agreement was a very important step forward, and we hope that the efforts by specialists who will be authorized by our Govern-ments will lead to better results.

And now a few words about Germany. If I understand correctly the translation, I have heard a very unrealistic term. I have in mind the term "East German authorities." It would be more pleasant to hear "Gov-ernment of the German Democratic Republic.

You don't like the German Democratic Republic. We don't like the Federal Republic of Germany, but we have diplo-F. R. G., we have very good trade relations with it. Thus, we are realists. If the Govern-ment of the United States were not saying "East German au-thorities" but were to say "Gov-ernment of the G. D. R.," that would be very good and realistic.

Guarantees of 'Freedom'

For West Berlin Proposed And now a second point. We would like to sign a peace treaty together with our World War II allies, and we hope that it will be so. It would be a great happiness not only for our Government but also for our people.

Nobody intends to turn West Nobody intends to turn West Berlin over to hast Germany. That does not make sense. There is the G. D. R. and there is the F. R. G. with its capitalist system. Let's sign a peace tready and let us guarantee freedom for West Berlin by every means — by troops of the four powers, by United Na-tions troops — and let's thus guarantee its rights. But this is a problem for future nego-tiation. tiation

Now a few words about ac-cess to West Berlin. Why comcommunication to West Berlin, why com-plicate such a simple problem? Communication to West Berlin runs over 100 miles through the territory of the German Democratic Republic. If one needs to visit West Berlin, if it is necessary to send people heeds to visit West Berlin, if it is necessary to send people, food or other goods there, then it is very elementary to ask permission for that of the Gov-ernment of the G. D. R. Some-times I feel — and I am saying this to you very frankly — that some evil people are attempting to complicate simple things and thus are deliberately creating tension.

Yesterday, when I was talk ing with your closest advisers, I gave this example: If a man has his nervous system ex-tremely strained, he is irritated by every noise, every sound and everything is taken by him very suspiciously. Such a man can create much trouble. We hope that the negotiations which will take place in the near fu-ture will be objective, realistic and will be conducted in an atmosphere of complete calm. THE PRESIDENT — May I just make one brief response?

All Berlin was put under fourpower authority by the agreements at Potsdam. East Berlin, which was under the immediate authority of the Soviet Union, has now been turned over to East Germany in vioover to East Germany in vio-lation of those agreements. It is no longer effectively under four-power control. And now the Soviet Union seeks to place Soviet troops in West Berlin. It does not suggest that the troops of the other three powers be placed in East Berlin. In other words, the Soviet Union now seeks to share in the control of West Berlin. That is the first point that is in question of the rights of access in crossing East Germany. As I gather it, you would give the East German authorities — you

East German authorities — you say East German Government -the power to interfere with that traffic. It is stated that they would not do so, but we have no assurances in Mr. Ul-bricht's statements, which vary from week to week.

Warning Given on Danger Of Curbs on Access

In my opinion, if such an agreement is signed, if our rights on the communication lines between the West and West Berlin—which are now governed by the Soviet Union are turned over to the East German authorities, and if the East Germans should interfere with that right of access, for one reason or another, then this would provide for heightened tension, the Soviet Union might come to the support of East Germany and we would find ourselves, instead of having settled this now, once more face-to-face.

The reason why we have been reluctant to recognize East Ger-many as a sovereign power is many as a sovereign power is that we do not recognize the division of Germany. In our opinion the German people wish to have one united country: 1<sup>s</sup> the Soviet /Union had lost that war, the Soviet people them selves would object to a lin-being drawn through Moscov had been defeated in war, y had been defeated in war,  $\tau$ wouldn't like to have a line wouldn't like to have a lin-drawn down the Mississipr River. The Germans want to be united. I think it should be pos-sible to provide for that under conditions which protect the In-terests of all concerned. But the Soviet Union believes that it is more in their interest to keep Germany divided. Now the question is—given that decision—can we provide for the protection of our rights in West Berlin, which were aggreed to in 1945 by the Soviet Union, so that this is not a

Union, so that this is not a continuing crisis? In attempt-ing to work out a solution of the problems which came about as a result of World War II, we don't want to increase the chances of World War III. All we wish to do is maintain a very limited—and they are a very limited—number of troops of the three powers in West Ber-lin and to have for more la lin and to have, for example, an international administration on the autobahn so that goods and people can move freely in and out.

Then we can have peace in this area for years. But if East Germany is going to exercise the right of authority over that access, we are going to have continued tension there—and I simply do not see, given the strong interests of both of us in having peace in this part of Europe, why that is a wise decision. I am hopeful instead that the negotiations which we are anxious to see take place will bring about an agreement on this area which will recognize fairly the interests of all.

Russians' Bitterness

Against Germany Cited

MR. ADZHUBEI-Mr. President, since I'm talking to you in a very frank and friendly manner, I would like to ask you to imagine, at least for a mo-ment, the following impossible thing. Imagine that you were an officer, a veteran of the Soviet Navy, who fought in World War II. You won the war, and then the very events occurred which are now taking place. One of the parts of Germany the Federal Republic of Ger-

the Federal Republic of Ger-many — does not recognize the borders which have been estab-lished after the war. It is again building up its armed forces. The Chancellor of that coun-try goes to the United States to talk to the President of the United States and they have secret talks. The spirit of re-vanchism is very high in that part of Germany. What would your attitude be toward this, if you were a veteran of the Soviet you were a veteran of the Soviet Navy?

THE PRESIDENT - If I THE PRESIDENT — If I were a Soviet veteran, I would see that West Germany now has only nine divisions, which is a fraction of the Soviet forces. Nine divisions, It has no nuclear weapons of its own. It has a very small air force— almost no navy, I think perhaps two or three submarines. So it is not a military threat. Its nine divisions are under the inferna-tional control of NATO, and subject to the command of the NATO organization, which is made up of fitteen countries of Europe, which altogether have, in West Germany now, affout twenty-two or twenty-three di-visions—about the same number as the Soviet divisions in East Germany. So that I do not see that were a Soviet veteran, I would Germany.

So that I do not see that this country represents a mili-tary threat now to the So-viet Union, even though I ognize how bitter was struggle in World War II the same way that Japan today represents no threat to the United States, even though twenty years ago there were four years of war in the Pacific against the Japanese. The powagainst the Japanese. The pow-er of countries changes—weap-ons change — science changes —without missiles, without nu-clear capability, with very few divisions today, I don't believe West Germany is a military threat.

Then I would look the

Cont'd on Following

Continued From Preceding Page

power of the United States, and I would look at the power of the Soviet Union, and I would say that the important thing is for the Soviet Union and the Is for the Soviet Union and the United States not to get into a war, which would destroy both of our systems. So as a Soviet veteran, I would want the Soviet Union to reach an agreement with the United States which recognizes the in-terests and the commitments of the United States, as well as our own, and not attempt as our own, and not attempt to enforce single-handedly a new situation upon the United States which would be against previous c tments we had made. The _____viet Union made a commitment in regard to Ber-in in 1045 lin in 1945. Germany today is divided. Germany today is not a threat to the Soviet Union militarily.

Accord Suiting Both Sides In Germany Held Possible

The important thing is to at-The important thing is to at-tempt to reach an accord which recognizes the interests of all; and I believe that can be done with respect to Germany. I rec-ognize that there are going to be two Germanys as long as the Soviet Union believes that that is in her interest. The problem now is to make sure that, in any treaty which the Soviet Union reaches with East Germany, the rights of the oth-Germany, the rights of the other powers are recognized in Berlin. That's all we're talking about. We are not talking about encouraging revanchism, build-ing a great German military machine, or anything else you mention. In any peace treaty which is signed with East Germany, there must be a recognition of the rights of the United States and the other powers. - Now that does not seem to me to be a threat in any way to the security of the Soviet Union. That does not provide for any increase in the Western military forces, which are rather limited there. I think we could have peace in this century in Central Europe if we can reach an accord over West Berlin. To pursue another course in the name of ending World War II—a course which threatens to increase the chance of World War III — represents a wholly unwise policy, for you and for us.

So, if I were a Soviet officer and wanted peace, I would think peace can be won and my country's security can be as-sured. The Soviet Union is a strong military power. It has great nuclear capacity. It has missiles, planes—it has a great number of divisions — it has countries associated with it. No one is ever going to invade the Soviet Union again. There is no military power that can do that. The problem is to make an agreement which will permit us as well as yours. That should not be beyond the capacity of us both.

Chairman Khrushchev did not, nor did I, make the arrangements in 1945 in regard by German generals, and you to you or to us. I think that we today. We have had peace, to Berlin. Our responsibility, know that Europe is very far should look at things as they really, in Europe for fifteen given the situation which is a from the United States. Don't are in 1961. difficult one, is to bring about you think that at some point it done. done.

done. In short, if I were a Soviet erals might become too influen-naval officer, I would feel that the security of the Soviet Union was well protected, and that the important thing now is to reach an accord with the United man Army is integrated in pened. As I said in the Fart to be so in-reach an accord with the United man Army is integrated in pened. As I said in the Fart to be so in-the source of the source of the fart to be so in-the important thing now is to portant to stress the West Ger-reach an accord with the United man Army is integrated in pened. As I said in the Fart to be so in-the important that the unit the unit of the fart to be so in-the important that the unit of the unit of the fart to be so in-the important that unit is integrated in pened. As I said in the fart to be so in-the important to the source of the to be so in-the important that unit is integrated in pened. As I said in the fart to be so in-the important that the unit of the to active the the source of the to be the to active the to be the the the the to be to be the to be the to be the tobe the to be t

Question of Atom Arms For Bonn Regime Raised

MR. ADZHUBEI - Mr. President, I am about to finish. Of course, you answered this question not as a veteran of the Soviet armed forces but as President of the United States, and the important thing now is to portant to stress the west Ger-reach an accord with the United man Army is integrated in pened. As I said, in the Far to be able to settle this matter States, our ally during that sec-ond war. Ouestion of Atom Arms

-and NATO is under the con-juations change. And we have week-end rest. trol of the fifteen NATO count to be realistic enough to see THE PRESIDENT — I ap-tries, none of which wants an- where the real danger lies. The preciate very much your giving the set of the preciate very much your giving Ident of the United States, andIf Germany developed an atomiceach other — and we are thepeople of this country there isnothing that would satisfythat is guite natural. However,(capability of its own, if it de-ident, you are aginst West Ger-strong national army thather disposal, or in any de-ons.ones that have the most to losefrom war.want to emphasize that to thepeople of this country there isnothing that would satisfythreatened war, then I would at it realistically, we should bepeople of the two countries live at peace, and thepeople of the two countries en-joying a steadily increasingout share it. After all, we protects the interests of ourhave had two wars in Europe,two great countries, and per-standard of living.want to emphasize that to thepeople of this country there isnothing that would satisfythe more than to see the twoocountries en-joying a steadily increasingour is us both to go ahead withas a student in 1939, and I nons. THE PRESIDENT — The as well as you. THE PRESIDENT — The as well as you. Thave had two wars in Europe, two great countries, and per-standard of living. But the situation today, and increasing our standard of liv-the situation for the future, is ing and meeting other problems. I was in the Soviet Union increasing our standard of living. I was in the Soviet Union increasing our standard of living. I was in the Soviet Union increasing our standard of living. I was in the Soviet Union increasing our standard of living. I was in the Soviet Union increasing our standard of living. I was in the Soviet Union increasing our standard of living. I was in the Soviet Union increasing our standard of living. I was in the Soviet Union inderstand that there have been many changes, and that the standard of roung of the people others to consider the situation is on that time. But it is not that may now, so why take the risk viet Union and the United that Government, and I think Know perfectly well that many top posts in NATO are occupied there is no real threat in Europe would look at them as they are you, Mr. President.

years. The problem now is to see if we can reach a negotia-there is security for real danger today is the fact me, as President, this oppor-all. And I think that will con-that both of us possess in our tunity to talk to the people nuclear stockpiles the means to of the Soviet Union, and your Now if this situation changed, impose great devastation upon courtesy in coming here. I if Germany developed an atomic each other — and we are the want to emphasize that to the reanability of its count if it do longs that have the most to loss neople of this country there is forces are integrated in NATO different. Countries change. Sit- time that I took from your