

Previous Court Actions on Watergate

Special to The New York Times

WASHINGTON, March 1—Following are previous court actions and indictments in the Watergate affair:

The Original Watergate Trial

Seven men were indicted on Sept. 15, 1972, on District of Columbia and Federal charges of burglary, conspiracy and attempting to intercept telephone and other communications for the break-in at the Democratic national headquarters in the Watergate apartment and office complex on June 17, 1972.

E. HOWARD HUNT Jr., a former White House consultant and Central Intelligence Agency employe, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to imprisonment from 30 months to eight years and fined $10,000. He was released from prison on appeal last Jan. 2.

G. GORDON LIDDY, former Treasury Department and White House aide, was convicted and sentenced to a term of six years and eight months to 20 years. He is in the Federal Terminal Island Prison in Los Angeles.

JAMES W. McCORD Jr., a former C.I.A. employe and agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation and security coordinator for the Republican National Committee and the Committee for the Re-Election of the President, was convicted and sentenced to a term of one to five years but never went to prison. He is cooperating with the prosecution and has appealed his conviction.

BERNARD L. BARKER, a Cuban-born American and Miami real estate man with C.I.A. connections, pleaded guilty, was sentenced to 18 months to six years and was released from prison last Jan. 4 on an appeal.

VIRGILIO R. GONZALEZ and EUGENIO R. MARTINEZ, anti-Castro Cubans from Miami who pleaded guilty and were sentenced to a term of one to four years. They are imprisoned at Eglin Air Force base in Florida and due for parole next Thursday.

FRANK STURGIS, Miami soldier of fortune, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to a term of one to four years. He was released last Jan. 18, pending an appeal.

The Special Prosecutor's Investigation

FREDERICK C. LaRUE, an aide to former Attorney General John N. Mitchell in the President's campaign organization, pleaded guilty last June 28 to charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice in attempting to cover up the Watergate affair. He is cooperating with prosecutors and awaiting sentence, which has been deferred.

JEB STUART MAGRUDER, former White House aide, Under Secretary of Transportation and second in command at the re-election committee, pleaded guilty last Aug. 16 to charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice and to defraud the United States in the attempted cover-up. He, too, is cooperating and his sentence has been deferred.

DONALD H. SEGRETTEI, a California lawyer who organized a campaign of espionage and dirty tricks against Democratic candidates in the 1972 Presidential campaign, pleaded guilty last Oct. 1 to one count of conspiracy and three counts of distributing illegal campaign literature, all misdemeanor charges. He was sentenced to six months in prison on Nov. 6 and is at a Federal prison camp at Lompoc, Calif.

EGIL KROGH Jr., former White House aide and head of the secret "plumbers" investigation unit, pleaded guilty last Nov. 30 to charges of conspiracy to violate the civil rights of Daniel Ellsberg's former psychiatrist. Mr. Krogh is cooperating and serving a six-month sentence at a Federal prison camp in Allenwood, Pa.

DWIGHT D. CHAPIN, former appointments secretary for President Nixon, was indicted last Nov. 29 on four perjury charges that arose from his dealings with Mr. Segretti. He has pleaded not guilty and is scheduled to go on trial.

JOHN W. DEAN 3d, former counsel to the President, pleaded guilty last Oct. 19 to charges of conspiracy to obstruct justice and defraud the United States in the Watergate cover-up. He is cooperating and his sentence has been deferred.

HERBERT L. PORTER, former scheduling director for the re-election campaign, admitted lying to the F.B.I. when testifying before the Senate Watergate committee. He pleaded guilty last Jan. 28 to knowingly making false statements to a Federal agency and is awaiting sentencing.

GEORGE HEARING, a Tampa, Fla., resident recruited by Mr. Segretti, pleaded guilty last May 4 to distributing illegal campaign literature and is serving a year in prison at Eglin.

JAKE JACOBSEN, a Texan, former White House aide in the Johnson Administration and former lawyer for a milk-producing organization, was indicted on Feb. 21 on a charge of lying under oath to a Federal grand jury about an alleged $10,000 payoff to an unnamed official in the Nixon Administration's increase in milk price supports in 1971.

HERBERT W. KALMBACH, President Nixon's personal attorney, pleaded guilty on Dec. 28 to charges arising from helping to operate an illegal $4-million campaign committee and to promising a better diplomatic post to a United States Ambassador in return for a $100,000 contribution to the committee. He is free on personal recognizance while awaiting sentencing, and is cooperating with the special prosecutor.

HARRY HELTZER, chairman of the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company, pleaded guilty last Oct. 17 to making an illegal contribution to President Nixon's campaign. He was fined $500, and the company was fined $3,000.

RUSSELL DeYOUNG, chairman of the Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., HARDING L. LAWRENCE, chairman of Braniff Airways; CLAUDE C. WILD Jr., vice president of the Gulf Oil Corporation; WILLIAM W. KEELER, chairman of the Phillips Petroleum Company, and H. EVERETT OLSON, chairman of the Carnation Company, pleaded guilty last fall to charges of making illegal contributions to President Nixon's campaign and were fined $1,000 each. The companies were fined $5,000 each.

ORIN E. ATKINS, chairman of the Ashland Oil Company, pleaded no contest to the same charges last Nov. 13 and received the same fine as the other executives, as did his company.

The New York Case

JOHN N. MITCHELL, former Attorney General; MAURICE H. STANS, former Commerce Secretary; ROBERT L. VESCO, a New Jersey financier, and HARRY L. SEARS, head of Mr. Nixon's re-election campaign in New Jersey, were indicted last May 10 on obstruction of justice, conspiracy and perjury charges in connection with a $200,000 cash gift to the re-election campaign. Mr. Vesco is a fugitive in the Bahamas and Mr. Sears has been separated from the case. Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Stans are now on trial in New York.

The California Case

JOHN D. EHRLICHMAN, former assistant to the President, MR. KROGH, MR. LIDDY and DAVID R. YOUNG Jr., a former aide to Secretary of State Kissinger, were indicted under California law last Sept. 4. The charges include perjury, burglary and conspiracy to commit burglary. The charges against Mr. Krogh were later dropped. The others have pleaded not guilty. The trial, in connection with the burglary of the office of Dr. Ellsberg's former psychiatrist, was scheduled to start late this month but it might be delayed by a subpoena asking Mr. Nixon to testify.
