Dear Susan,

I am enclosing the revised 1975 Foreword, which I hope will be satisfactory to you and Jason Epstein. It is smoother than the first draft, I think.

I would like to mention one thing that is very important to me. My employers do not wish to be linked in any way to my work on the assassination. That is why the dust jacket on the book merely says vaguely that I work for an international health organization. I always stipulate that I should not be identified as an official of the World Health Organization or the United Nations (unhappily the Saturday Evening Post overlooked my request). Therefore, I would be grateful if Random House does not mention my job at the UN or mention the WHO in any biographical data for the paperback edition of Accessories.

I assume you will be sending me a contract to sign in due course. If you can give me an idea, I'd be interested to know the size of the printing and the retail price and any other details of this kind.

Your phonecall telling me that the way was clear for a paperback edition made me very happy, as you must have heard in my voice. I should like to thank you and Mr. Epstein very much for deciding to do the book and I hope that it will be a success for you. In any case, I am really very gratified to be associated with Random House.

Yours very sincerely,
