Dear Sylvia:

Inclosed is a copy of the pamphlet recently reprinted by the State Historical Society, with several corrections--Garrison, Jones, Thompson, Computers and Automation--and with one addition --David Belin's fiction. It was the best I could do under short time notice and extremely limited space. I trust the revisions do not harm the bibliography.

The editor of the Wisconsin Magazine of History, William C. Haygood, stated to me by letter that individuals in Europe were asking for the bibliography and many within the United States, thus the reissue. I wish they had a copy of your book in print that they might turn to it. Is it possible to bring it out in paperback via the big publishers, Ballantine, Mentor etc.? How useful it would be to have a reprint, with additions to include the Texas Observer material!

Being in the middle of the state and in the midst of the piney woods I sometimes miss articles. If you have written anything recently I would be most happy to hear of it.

Sincerely yours,

David R. Wrone
