

FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION

Date November 24, 1963

WILLIAM MARTIN JUREK, 9211 Hathaway Street, Dallas, Texas, who is employed at Texas Instruments Corporation, Dallas, advised he and his wife, MARION JUREK, own apartments located at 602 and 604 Elsbeth Street in the Oak Cliff section of Dallas, Texas.

JUREK made available and turned over to SAs GASTON C. THOMPSON and JACK B. PEDEN a 5x8 card containing the application for rental of apartment 2 at 604 Elsbeth Street, Dallas, in the name of "L. H. OSWALD." JUREK pointed out that this application bore the handwritten date "Nov 3/62" which he stated represented the date the application was received and the date on which OSWALD first rented the apartment. JUREK observed that the application bore only limited information in addition to the name of the applicant, and he was unable to state whether the handwriting on the application was prepared by the applicant or by the manager of the above apartment. He volunteered, however, that he had instructed the manager of the above apartments to have such applications prepared by the applicants themselves, and for that reason he felt that the handwriting probably was prepared by the applicant. He advised that the manager of the above apartments, M. F. TOBIAS, would be able to furnish definite information as to whether or not the handwriting on the rental application was actually prepared by OSWALD.

JUREK observed that the space for "Last Address" bore the notation "Service" and it was his opinion that this notation may have been placed on the application to indicate that the applicant was in the military service prior to the time he rented the above apartment on November 3, 1962. He advised that information contained on the back of the application with reference to payments of rent indicated OSWALD and his wife and one child resided in the above apartment from November 3, 1962, to about March 1, 1963. He advised the rental payments were $68.00 per month and that record of payments on the application reflected OSWALD paid the entire $68.00 on about the third of each month except on one occasion, that being on or about February 3, 1963, when he paid only $60.00.

He added, however, that his records reflected a receipt showing OSWALD paid the remaining $8.00 on February 8, 1963.

JUREK further advised that his records revealed payments of rent by OSWALD were made in cash, and he had no information which might indicate OSWALD, or his wife, ever had a bank account.

JUREK noted that the rental application bore a notation which reflected OSWALD made a $5.00 cash "key" deposit at the time he moved into the apartment on November 3, 1963. He stated it is customary to refund this deposit if the key to the apartment is returned at the time an occupant vacates an apartment unit, provided there has been no damage to the unit for which the occupant was negligent and responsible. JUREK checked his records to determine if he had made a refund of this $5.00 by check to OSWALD, and he could find no record of having made such refund. He made a search for such refund check, as he stated an endorsement on such check was the only other possibility of any handwriting prepared by OSWALD which might have been in his possession.

JUREK advised the manager of the above apartment, M. F. TOBIAS, or his wife, NANNIE TOBIAS, called him during the month preceding the date the OSWALDS vacated the apartment and advised him that one or more of the neighbors had complained about the OSWALDS "creating a disturbance," with OSWALD reportedly having "beaten" his wife. He stated upon receiving this information he contacted OSWALD at Apartment 2, 604 Elsbeth, Dallas, Texas. He said he advised OSWALD that he had received a complaint from one of the other tenants that there had been a disturbance recently in his, OSWALD's, apartment and that it was his, JUREK's, policy to keep such incidents to a minimum. He said he inquired of OSWALD as to whether he could give him any help, whereupon OSWALD maintained he and his wife had not had a fight or any argument and that the noise referred to by the other tenant(s) undoubtedly was caused by his small child which was about one year of age. JUREK said that at the time he contacted OSWALD he talked to him through the screen door and was not invited inside the apartment. JUREK stated he was never inside the apartment during the time it was occupied by the OSWALD family.

JUREK stated that upon being advised by the manager that the OSWALD family had moved out of the apartment, he and his wife, MARION, visited the apartment for the purpose of checking it and seeing if it was in condition to be rented to another tenant. He advised the apartment had been "pretty well cleaned out"; however, he did recall having found a business-type card behind one of two drawers in a closet between the bedroom and kitchen of the apartment. He advised this business-type card definitely had the word "Cuba" on it, and it is his best recollection the card bore some printed notation such as "Friends for Cuba" or "Fair Play for Cuba" or words to that effect. He said he has a vague recollection the card may have had OSWALD's name printed thereon; however, he could not be certain as to this latter fact. He said he attached no significance to the card at the time and threw it in the trash.

JUREK advised that the OSWALDs gave no notice they were going to vacate the apartment and did not leave any forwarding address.

Prior to furnishing the above rental application to SAs THOMPSON and PEDEN, JUREK placed his name on the card for future identification purposes.
