Dear Menachem,

Enclosed is the exact text of a copy of a letter written by Harold Weisberg which he has sent to me for my information and, no doubt, applause. Normally I would not circulate a letter without the consent of the writer; in this instance, an exception seems justified, if only to prove that your "nasty" letter was not nasty enough.

I am sending a copy to Vince, too. He will no doubt find it instructive to know that no one was first to quote the FBI report.

The conversation, the company, and the dinner on Saturday were most enjoyable, for which I thank you and Mrs. Arnoni again, most warmly.

Sincerely yours,

P.S. I hope that I spelled your name correctly?
