

(3/22/67)

Sylvia Meagher was born in New York City in 1921 and attended Brooklyn College. She has held a responsible post in the field of international health since 1947, in an administrative capacity and as an analytical-reports writer. During occasional tours of duty abroad, she has lived in Switzerland and traveled in Europe.

She is an amateur painter and a devotee of the ballet, chess, and scrabble.

Her articles on the Warren Report have appeared in several magazines and her Subject Index to the Warren Report and the Hearings and Exhibits, published by Scarecrow Press in 1966, has been used widely by investigators and researchers.