

25 August 1969

Dear Bob,

- (1) Today received royalty check from Bobbs-Merrill, Indianapolis. As they say in Dallas and Edgartown, the case is closed.
- (2) You may have overlooked the following mini-story in today's NY Times. Elliott Fremont-Smith of Little, Brown has commissioned a book from a friend of the Kennedys, Jack Olsen by name, to be published as The Bridge at Chappaquiddick. How does that grab you?
- (3) In the matter of Charlie Givens (Accessories, page 64 ff.): I have been buying Warren Commission documents lately from the Archives, which has been good enough to drop the cost of 20¢ to only 10¢ a page. For a few dimes, I have acquired good and sufficient vindication of my inferences of perjury and collusion by Givens et al, including the WC lawyers. Givens, until he testified in April 1964, all along told a story that alibied rather than incriminated Oswald. Then he made a complete switch. Not long before the switch of stories, Lt. Revill of the Dallas Police said in an interview by the FBI that he believed that "Givens would change his story for money." It only remains to determine how much money it took.
- (4) I hear that Arnoni is returning here next month to revive TMO and, presumably, to swindle his public with renewed vigor. If and when you feel inclined to give this matter some thought, I would value your views on what, if anything, I should do and could do to put a spoke in the wheel.

I decided to write instead of phoning in case you are napping or not in voice yet. I hope that you are feeling better and not breaking too many rules. Love to you and Ann,

Ever,
