

31 March 1973

Dear Jim,

As you rightly predicted, there seems to be a surge of activity in preparation for the tenth anniversary. I am presently being hounded by one kook type who insists on seeing me personally to disclose his astonishing findings on the Zapruder film and the Altgens photo. It seems that even Harold gave this guy the cold shoulder. I have also been contacted by a free-lance writer who was with Esquire when my article was commissioned. Esquire intends to set aside twenty pages for coverage of the anniversary, to include various sections on The Family, the critics, etc.

Needless to say, I was pleasantly jolted to see from the press stories on Watergate that Bernard Fensterwald is now representing McCord. Hmm...I wonder where these Cuban/CIA types were on 11/22/63?

About the reprints of the wrong bibliography, perhaps we should not go ahead with the project. I appreciate the many demands on your time and I am in a similar position --heavy calendar, and I even had to work today (Saturday) after a very trying week. The pressure will continue until mid-June, and sometime before that I must find time somehow to search for a summer house at the beach. I doubt that either you or I will be in a position to address envelopes or similar clerical tasks.

But I will leave that to your excellent judgment. If the reprints or photo-offsets are to be distributed, no covering letter would be needed. But perhaps there could be an indication that the distribution is a public service by the Committee to Investigate Assassinations.

Warm regards and best wishes on your new home,
