Dear Mrs. Cann,

Thank you for your good letter to Penn Jones and your note. I received your message the other day too late to return your call but I did call back yesterday morning, just before the onset of a frightful head cold and loss of voice (hence this letter).

I am not having much luck with the Subject Index. The publisher has decided not to issue a second edition. I asked my father to return his copy, but he cannot find it! So Penn Jones seems to be the only hope. The only material on Gongora is in CE 1144, as you know already; if and when you get hold of a copy of my Index, you will probably find all references to the National Enquirer by checking the listings "Walker Shooting" on pp. 99-100 of the Index. See also page 662 of the Warren Report, which mentioned the National Enquirer in the 8th paragraph on the page.

Let's hope that Penn Jones writes saying yes. Kind regards,
