Dear Miss Meagher:

I have today received the copy of your letter forwarded to me by the minority of one. Thank you.

The letter and statement regarding Oswald was sent out by me on December 15, 1964. This was before I got my 26 volumes. The notation in Seth Kauter's notebook had reference to another time that Oswald referred to himself as a "patsy". NBC has the tape where he says "I'm just a patsy" at 7:55 - CBS has the tape where he says "I'm a patsy" at the Friday midnight press conference. Mr. Ray Marcus, another interested seeker after truth has the 7:55 "patsy" remark on tape. You could not see the tape - just heard the sound of it in the background while the title, "Oswald and the Law", an NBC program, was appearing on the screen. Therefore, we know that Oswald called himself a "patsy" on at least two separate occasions. Once at 7:55 and once at Friday midnight.

Sincerely yours

Copy to: The minority of one

P.S. This part is not a part of the copy sent to the minority of one. I sent that ^{original "patsy"} letter and statement out to 30 different places. The only answers I received were from Bertrand Russell - The National Guardian Newsweek Magazine - The minority of one (who printed it) - and a man who supervises the mail distribution at night for the New York Times, Mr. H. D. Corson, 2148 Richmond Terrace, Staten Island, 2, New York. Mr. Corson seemed so genuinely interested that I sent him copies of my complete former communications with the Warren Commission beginning in the early part of April, 1964. I told him to show it to anybody he pleased. I do not have another complete file but you might find it interesting to contact him and ask to see the correspondence.

I found your comparison references most interesting and would like to compare notes more completely.

My trouble is that I am an accountant who works at home and I am swamped with accounting work. I will write you more fully later.

It makes me feel much better to know that there are many of us - all seeking the same thing - the truth.

Sincerely

Lillian Castellano
