

come back to Avalon

And mini-dots of Dacron® and cotton

It's got all the charm in the world—but there's nothing costume-y about its clean, crisp looks. It's the little summer cooler dotted within an inch of its life and accented with a flirt of ruffle. In a witless, wrinkle-shedding voile of 65% Dacron* polyester, 35% cotton. White-dotted brown or navy. 8-18. About $20. *Du Pont registered trademark.

At Abraham & Straus, Brooklyn and branches.

Syd Hershon for
AVALON CLASSICS
525 7th Avenue, New York, N.Y.

Filed Journal: Reference
The New York Times Magazine

APRIL 20, 1969

25
McGeorge Bundy Confronts the Teachers
By Richard Armstrong

28
The Sex Researchers Are as Busy as the Birds and Bees—All They Talk About Is Sex, Sex, Sex
By Tom Buckley

30
The Final Chapter in the Assassination Controversy?
By Edward Jay Epstein

32
American History (White Man's Version) Needs an Infusion of Soul
By C. Vann Woodward

THE COVER—
A collage by noted Negro artist Romare Bearden shows some influences—rural, urban, African—that have shaped the Negro's destiny in the U.S.

34
The Ramparts Story: Um, Very Interesting
By James Ridgeway

48
Johnny Sain Teaches the Power of Positive Pitching
By Bill Surface

78
Fashions: Double Splash By Patricia Peterson

81
Parent and Child: When Fathers Drop Out
By Marjorie R. Leonard

86
Food: Consider the Shank By Craig Claiborne

88
Home: Fashion Backgrounds By Barbara Plumb

Bridge 84

Picture Credits 126

Puzzles 128

Copyright 1969, The New York Times Company

Letters

COUNTERREVOLUTION

To THE EDITOR:

In reply to Eric Darton, Letters, March 30:

Man, you sure told The Times where it's at! Why, they're not even sure who the good guys and the bad guys are! But we know, don't we? And you can bet there'll be none of this self-doubt and thinking and "What-did-we-do-wrong?" business when us good guys take over ("Revolutionaries Who Have to Be Home by 7:30," March 16).

I can't wait to overthrow this fascist, warmongering establishment. Everyone knows war is immoral—a group of people taking over by force, subjecting innocent people to violence and bloodshed. But Revolution—that's something else. Lots of bloodshed—but no guilt because we're the good guys—and then we get to take over. Groovy!

These liberals are so dumb they don't even know the way to argue with those who disagree with you is to lay a little excrement on them, and call them by those real clever dirty names that they're not smart enough to use.

I'd like you to know that my whole family is getting to know where it's at, even my mother. She used to love to paint and play the piano all day, but since she got married she's been uptight with her middle-class values of cooking for my kid sisters and brothers and washing and ironing and "being there when they come home from school"—and she really hates the whole domestic bit. But now she's beginning to see through all this middle-class—about mother love and she's going to let the kids fend for themselves so she can go out and do her thing! She's got a sign up in the kitchen saying, "Freedom Now!"

I'd like to tell you about the real cool college my older brother goes to. It took a few campus riots (which my brother says beats studying any time), and now they have no compulsory courses—except, of course, Black Studies, which all the whites have to take. That college is turning out engineers and lawyers who are real pros on African History. You can bet there's no R.O.T.C. or Dow Chemical recruiters on that campus—they're all for peace, so they really hit the books on all the tribal wars in Africa, right up to Biafra and Nigeria.

There won't be any of this racial inequality when we take over. Everybody, black, yel-

(Continued on Page 125)