

November 22, 1971

Dear Sylvia:

Marguerite Oswald called me yesterday afternoon and said she had just bought a copy of the Houston Chronicle and it had a very good interview with you in it. She said you mentioned a Philadelphia man who had written a new book. She wanted to know who he was.

I immediately went down town to try to buy the paper and they were all sold out. If you get a copy of the interview, please Xerox me a copy. Also, I am interested in the new book and want to buy a copy. Who did write it and what is the title?

Harold Weisberg is in New Orleans and, apparently, back in the good graces of Jim Garrison. Harold called us yesterday morning and will be in Dallas Wednesday. Said Jim sent his very best regards to Buck and me. I suppose I should praise God for such blessings!

We are leaving for Germany the 15th of December. Jimmy Lee's wife will have a baby over there the last of this month. He married her while he was home last Christmas. He came home again in February just before going to Germany. We didn't know they were married until she came over, tearful, with marriage license in hand, to announce she was expecting a baby in April. We got him home, had them remarried in the Church and sent her to Germany with him. Buck was in the hospital in Memphis through all of this trauma... I have my passport and if anything should go wrong, I'll go over immediately but if nothing happens Buck and I will fly to New York about the 15th of December or a few days later. I'll try to reach you while I'm in N.Y. by phone. Maybe going or coming I can visit with you for a few hours. I certainly hope so. Oh, I forgot to say that we will fly to Kansas City for one night's visit with Carol Anne and her children, if all is well in Germany, before going on ~~the~~ to New York. Hence, we will have to change airports in New York, according to Carol Anne. (This bit of information may mean something to you -- in other words, you might instruct me to call at one or the other airports as it would improve the possibilities of seeing you) Which airport is nearer to you?

Please write soon.

Love,

