Dear Sylvia,

Congratulations! We are all looking forward to seeing Accessories back in the stores.

Thanks for calling Peter about the change in plans on the Archives documents. My letter to Anson is enclosed. Things seem to be working out fairly well, since I should be getting the first 655 pages from the Archives this week. Having made notes on the remaining pages, I have decided that I can do without most of them, but if there is some way of getting them cheaply Peter and I would like to. Peter's understanding is that commercial rates in N.Y. are prohibitive, but it still might be worthwhile to have pages sent here for Xeroxing. I could get it back to you within 2 days of receipt; since this is replaceable material it would be reasonably safe to send it insured or registered. Whatever we work out, I'll send you my notes on anything interesting I come up with.

Susan Bolotin called me last Wednesday to announce that hardcover books existed; however, the copies she said she was sending have not yet arrived. I'm willing to blame the post office. Optimistically, I can attribute a lot of RH's random behavior to Jason's self-proclaimed resistance to corporate rationality. (See enclosure.) We have not yet heard from the publicity person, whose call has been promised to us as imminent on a number of occasions since December 11, but I am still optimistic that RH does have some sort of publicity planned for our book and yours. ~~We'll~~ We'll see!

~~Regards,~~

Regards,

Paul
