Dear Sylvia,

Thanks for your letter of the 21st. The list of exhibits and the ~~index~~ index are very helpful, and I assure you that it's no trouble at all for me to do the Xeroxing out here. (There are machines all over, on and around the campus.)

Your originals are enclosed; let me know if you would like an extra copy. (In the future, I would suggest that you keep one carbon, just in case the original gets ~~lost~~ lost before it reaches me.)

Also enclosed is my 4/28 listing of available stuff, including the exhibit list. I didn't mention the critics' conference index, since I'm not yet clear if there are any ~~restrictions~~ restrictions on the transcript itself. The copy someone was sending to Peter and me has evidently gotten lost; I'm asking Jeff for a replacement copy. I am rather curious to see it - how do we sound, in retrospect? (I'm also curious to see how much the reporter was able to pick up - I expect lots of errors.)

With best regards,

Paul
