Dear Miss Meagher,

Thank you very much for your letter of September 20th and I am very sorry indeed that I have been so slow in answering it. I am only just beginning to catch up with my voluminous correspondence that arose in connection with my work on the Kennedy assassination.

I have known for some time about your subject index to the Warren Report which I am sure will be a most valuable aid to all those engaged in further research on this matter. When I get around to really start digging in those famous 26 volumes, the way Mark Lane and others have done it, I'm sure I'll want to consult it assiduously. For the time being, I have to rely on the report itself and the published works of Lane, Epstein, Penn Jones and others because, with my present nomad way of life, I am physically unable to lug around such a collection of volumes as the complete "work" of the Warren Commission represents.

Also, I am afraid I have to change my previous plans. Following the publication of my German-language book on the subject (s. enclosure), I have been asked to write a second volume in that language which will keep me busy for some time to come. As a result, I have had to postpone my plan to write a series of volumes in English which I had proposed to issue myself in mimeographed form. When I get around to this job, I'll certainly let you know.

It was nice to hear that you are a friend of Shirley Martin with whom I have been corresponding for some time. I suppose you are also in touch with Penn Jones Jr., with whom I have also been corresponding and who did a very remarkable job in his small paper and his self-published paperback.

I am always indebted to all my (personally unknown) friends in the United States for sending me clippings, privately gathered information, hints and suggestions. If you happen to come across something of evident interest to me (the only US publications I more or less regularly see are the NYT, the Paris "Trib", Time and Newsweek) I would be most obliged if you could let me have an occasional clipping. I am particularly interested in the NY Post which appears to be undergoing a change of heart in the matter from what I hear.

By the way, do you happen to know if it is true that Wesley Liebeler is planning to start an investigation of his own? I have heard this in a roundabout way and am looking for confirmation. Do you happen to know where Liebeler can be reached? Could you ~~xxx~~ let me have copies of your articles published in The Minority of One? I'll be delighted to quote from them, and give you full credit, whenever the occasion arises in my future writings on the subject.

With best regards,

Sincerely yours,
