Dear Mr. Jones,

I am writing at the suggestion of Paul Fanning of WBBM. Planning a program on the question of the Kennedy assassination, I asked Paul his advice on which books must be used. Yours was the first he suggested. However, if I understand him correctly, it is difficult to come by.

Will you tell me where I can buy a copy in Chicago or could you send me a copy? I promise to send a check by return mail. The program is scheduled for Nov. 20 and we would need a few days to work out a report on it.

The subject matter with which you deal, the death of witnesses, is probably the drama that would move people to action. Sort of like the Reichstag fire.

Although I did not hear the Williams Show the night you were on (my miserable luck) I understand that you deal with the subject in greater detail than Mark Lane. I agree with Paul that Forgive My Grief is a must for our program.

Please and thank you,

Dear Mr. Jones:

I caught your program last night on WCAU, Philadelphia and found it fascinating.

Your courage and persistence seems to me to be admirable. Please send me a copy of your book. I believe you said the hard-bound edition is $2.95 and am enclosing same.

Also please send me a list of the other persons who have issued similar publications that you referred to last night, and the address of the Scarecrow press, New York so that I may order the index.

Best wishes for success.
