L.I. Town Mourns a Kent State Victim

By JOHN DARNTON

Special to The New York Times

gether out of a sense of confu-nomination to the United ent of Schools. "There was a sion and bereavement over the States Senate, also spoke at division there which must be of signatures within three hours.

dead. Another statistic."

Theodore C. Sorensen, a

sion and bereavement over the death of Jeffrey Glenn Miller, one of four Kent State University students killed by National Guardsmen on Monday.

But as the war in Indochina is debated with new urgency, the cleavage between pro-war and antiwar factions has deepened in Jeffrey Miller's home town.

Yesterday, there was a candlelight vigil at the local library, a solemn motorcade through town and a spontaneous petition calling for an end to the war that collected 2,000 signatures within three hours.

States Senate, also spoke at division there which must be of concern to every thinking American."

The asked. "A band of National Guardsmen returning stones with gunfire."

Who else killed Jeff (while Jeff (concern to every thinking American."

The asked to take a stand on the war the night before, passed a resolution condemning violence on all sides. Many students who brought the Guard in the every thinking American."

The asked repeatedly, answering it each time: those who brought the Guard in the service. "Who killed Jeff (concern to every thinking American."

The asked to take a stand on the war the night before, passed a resolution condemning violence on all sides. Many students who have turned a deaf (which had refused to take a stand on the war the night before, passed a resolution condemning violence on all sides. Many students who have turned a deaf (which had refused to take a stand on the war the night before, passed a resolution condemning violence on all sides. Many students who have turned a deaf (which had refused to take a stand on the war the night before, passed a resolution condemning violence on all sides. Many students who have turned a deaf (which had refused to take a stand on the war the night before, passed a resolution condemning violence on all sides. Many students who have turned a deaf (which had refused to take a stand on the war the night before, passed a resolution condemning violence on all sides. Many students who bear the night before, passed a resolution as unstanting the passed to t

Today, classes at the two high schools all but stopped said, by a heated meeting of "I wasn't part of the revolugathered in the gymnasium of last night. The session was John F. Kennedy High School called to consider student degree on Today, classes at the two eulogies was heightened, many on Saturday. "I wasn't part of the revolution before," he said. "But from last night. The session was John F. Kennedy High School called to consider student degree of the said of the session was Jeffrey Miller's father, Berfor a memorial source to the said of the session was Jeffrey Miller's father, Berfor a memorial source to the said of the session was Jeffrey Miller's father, Berfor a memorial source to the said of the session was Jeffrey Miller's father, Berfor a memorial source to the said of the session was Jeffrey Miller's father, Berfor a memorial source to the said of the session was Jeffrey Miller's father, Berfor a memorial source to the said of the session was Jeffrey Miller's father, Berfor a memorial source to the said of the session was Jeffrey Miller's father, Berfor a memorial source to the said of the session was Jeffrey Miller's father, Berfor a memorial source to the said of the session was Jeffrey Miller's father, Berfor a memorial source to the said of the session was Jeffrey Miller's father, Berfor a memorial source to the said of the session was Jeffrey Miller's father, Berfor a memorial source to the said of the s for a memorial service to the mands that the body condemn nard Miller, is a typesetter 20-year-old youth who had United States intervention in for The New York Times. "I lived here for the last 10 years. Southeast Asia and "the violent just hope that something In speeches, songs and prayers, repression of student dissent" comes out of this," he said to-the message of anger and anathome.

guish came through.

"How could they kill him?" packed auditorium when a scufdemanded Jeff Weingarten, fle broke out as a member of music. Why the devil did the who graduated from Plainview the audience tried to grab the guys have to have bullets in Old Bethpage High School with microphone from a Kent State their guns, right in the Mr. Miller in 1967. "He was University student who was at-chamber? It was one set of like the rest of us. He left for tempting to describe the events kids against another."

college confused. And now he's leading to the killings. There were no arrests.

"The meeting was a profile PLAINVIEW, L. I., May 6— Theodore C. Sorensen, a of the whole nation," said Dr. This community has drawn to-candidate for the Democratic Robert Savitt, the Superintend-

The antiwar tone of the demonstration in Washington

Jeffrey Miller's father, Ber-