Dear Mr. Whalen,

I have just seen your review of Accessories After the Fact in the Chicago Sun-Times of 26 November 1967. You cannot imagine how moved I was. I cannot allow this day to end without expressing my feelings of personal gratitude, and a new sense of hope for what may still be done by the press, when writers with your kind of objectivity and forthrightness are at work, to redress a shameful injustice.

With great respect and gratitude,

Sincerely yours,
