Dear Miss Meagher:

Mr. Herbert C. Morton of the Brookings Institution has called my attention to your subject index of the Warren Commission report, and I have discussed it with Mr. Verner W. Clapp, President of the Council.

In view of the large library sale of the multi-volume Report your index very probably has some commercial value. We take the liberty of suggesting that you explore the matter with some company specializing in library publications. Some of these are: R. R. Bowker Company, H. W. Wilson Company, Scarecrow Press, Shoestring Press, and G. K. Hall Company. Their addresses will be found in Literary Market Place. There is or was an Index Society at Columbia University, but we are uncertain as to whether this is in existence. Possibly the Columbia University Press itself might be interested, or the University of Chicago Press.

We will be interested in learning of any arrangements which you may make.

Sincerely,

Lee E. Grove
Director of Publications
