Dear Ed,

If you did not catch the broadcast on Saturday night, let me reassure you that I did not mention your name. Actually, I had not intended to discuss anything except my own findings, even before Jones Harris gave me your message.

About my notes on the conversation with Eisenberg: I think you should put the same questions to him and see if he does not give you the same answers, before you assume that I have reported his answers unfairly. Meanwhile, just so that there will be no ambiguity, let me say that my notes reflect just what Eisenberg said, including the remarks about Finck.

Perhaps I am unsympathetic to the Commission and the legal staff, now that I have studied the results of their work. However, that will not lead me to misquote them—on the contrary, I would wish to quote them as accurately as possible; which perhaps would be a worse disservice. If they were willing to put things in writing, I would certainly prefer it. However, those who are willing to comment by telephone stipulate that their remarks are not for attribution and that even the fact of the phonecall should not be revealed. Nevertheless, I have summarized such conversations as have occurred as accurately as possible, as they did not require embellishment.

Yours sincerely,
