Dear Mrs. Meagher,

It was a pleasure to speak to you last week. Unfortunately, it appears as if I may have misled ~~me~~ you as concerns Ray's letter to Midgely.

I had previously asked Ray for a copy of Midgely's reply to that letter to enclose with mine. Subsequent to my letter to him, I had decided that it would be better to speak entirely for myself and not rely in part on another's work. Bill had first suggested that I not use Ray's letter.

Today I received a reply from Ray. In it he states, "I have already sent copies of my letter to Midgely to Kupferman and Garrison, and will be sending it also to the critics shortly." Because he had given copies of the letter to Maggie, Bill, and myself, I had assumed that copies had been sent to the remaining critics. Evidently, I was wrong.

So I apologize to you for what was an unwarranted assumption on my part. You should be receiving a copy shortly as stated by Ray.

Best wishes,

Steve

Ray is still working on something connected with the letter.
