Sylvia: Feel more encouraged about Garrison after that marvelous statement that Lee Oswald may not have killed anybody! After so many years...the light at the end of the tunnel?

Sylvia, what about the Evans-Novak column re Katzenbach, Manlolo Rey and the CIA Index? Do you have any more on this? Surely would appreciate any information along this line.

How did Harold Russell die? This was new to me.

Isn't it cute the way the newspapers are now labelling the Cubans as "leftist anti-Castro Cubans?"

There is still room for much work even if Garrison does prove trustworthy. The Dallas police, for example, can not be let off lightly for their after-the-fact manufacture of evidence: i.e., threads from Lee's shirt in rifle mechanism, fingerprints made only seconds before paraffin test administered, the manufacture Friday night of the brown paper bag, the planted 10th Street shells, etc., etc.

I keep thinking about what Vince has said so often: No matter what comes of all this, we have involved ourselves in the worthiest cause of our lives. What a wonderful experience; what a rewarding relationship with all of you.
