Dear Sylvia:

Just a quick note to pass along the enclosed list of errata. I'm forwarding a copy to Paul as well.

I'm now in the process of going through all the slips of the subject index, making sure everything is in order, re-arranging material, making cross-references, adding "see alsos" where necessary, and trying to pick up any references missed. It's like working on a picture puzzle of thousands of pieces in which you must keep the shape and locations in your head and recall how each should fit into another. It's slow, maddening work but I'm somewhere near the halfway mark. By the time you receive this, I should be doing the same with the names and getting ready to type it up.

I think it might be a good idea to have a short list of abbreviations which I've been using on my cross referencing and which, unless you object, we could use in the index. There would be only a few: JFK, JBC, LHO, WC, HSCA, N (Name Index) and S (Subject Index) and perhaps one or two others.

Will keep you posted and send new corrections if and when they're found.

Best regards,

Harry
