Dear Miss Meagher:

I have just received word from my friend Maxwell Geismar that you are to be in Boston between July 6 and 25 working at the World Health Assembly. I shall be in Boston until the 18th of July and I do very much look forward to meeting you and talking with you.

As Max has told you, I am most anxious that your papers come to the University, not only because of the importance that they be carefully preserved under optimum archival conditions, but because they undoubtedly do constitute an unparalleled research source.

I would like to go over possible arrangements with you, and I will telephone the Sheraton-Boston Hotel when you are here.

My best wishes.

Sincerely yours,
