Dear Mr. Schoenman,

I was very pleased to have your letter of the 12th and to learn that the Foundation continues to be actively interested in the effort to uncover the truth about the Dallas assassination.

My sense of personal commitment has continued from the day of that fateful event to the present moment; although I must confess that in recent weeks I have been more discouraged and despondent about the prospects of a breakthrough than at any other time.

It is difficult to respond in any meaningful way to the questions you posed by means of a letter, and I wonder if we could not have a talk one evening. My work at the United Nations does not usually permit a leisurely phonecall during the day. Perhaps you would be good enough to phone me one evening, at your convenience, at Chelsea 2-4293, so that we can chat about the subject.

With all good wishes,

Yours sincerely,
