Dear Miss Meagher:

Thank you very much for your consideration in sending your comments by letter regarding my brief paper, which you received through Dr. Wecht. Criticism is especially valuable for Professor Turner and myself when it comes from someone with such a detailed knowledge of this case as yours.

Your main criticism relates to the analysis of Dr. Robert Forman. I now have a copy of his paper and have corresponded with Dr. Forman (who will, in fact, be joining the University of Toledo faculty in the fall). The possibility of a second location for the source of the first shot is independently suggested, of course, both by his analysis of the medical evidence and by my summary of the films, witness testimony, and geography of the scene. Although I had originally felt that the medical evidence was too complex a subject to get into in a brief paper, a footnote (at least) citing the subject and thrust of Forman's work would be both relevant and informative. Your comments on this were very helpful.

Finally, a belated thank-you for your permission to me to make a xerox of your "Subject Index." Your listings of assassination witnesses and citations were certainly valuable to me to make sure that I had read all the relevant witness statements.

Sincerely,

Don Olson
