Dear Sir:

Your interesting article in The Nation on the National Commission on the Causes and Prevention of Violence was of special interest to me, I hope the accompanying squib makes clear. It projects views of the Warren Commission which in all probability is the result of sustained interest and study, and should encourage continuing probing of the assassination of President Kennedy. Mrs. Sylvia Meagher's letter, which I am enclosing, is a case in point.

Like hers, my interest has not flagged. I also share with her an impulse to reach out to others who also have an abiding interest in that historic event. Perhaps you would care to exchange opinions on it. An affirmative response would be gratifying.

Very truly yours,
