Dear Tom,

STAMM

Just a brief note to thank you for the last few envelopes I received from you. AIC understandably rejects food for thought, since its forte is not cerebral but visceral.

Isabel Davis, my friend who was at the New School class with us and is now working in Washington D.C., has called my attention to a book that you might like to know about. It is a "bibliographical essay, titled "The Kennedy Literature," by James Tracy Crown, published by NYU Press 1968. The book includes a chapter on the assassination, the WC, doubts and alternative explanations, listing the main works and giving a brief and sometimes sketchy critique of each.

The electorate in New Orleans has retained that bloody bore and big-mouth Garrison, as you surely noticed in the press. Just the same I think I will allow my New Orleans States*Item subscription to lapse --it will only be more of the same dreary posturing, and I certainly feel sorry for Clay Shaw and other victims.

Best to you and May,
