Dear Sylvia!

It has bugged me for years: How can people such as Penn Jones remain active, publishing almost weekly new & seemingly important tidbits about JFK without being squashed? The obvious answer simply never occurred to me until reading the enclosed Village Voice article an hour ago. And how simple the answer! On reading your name I dropped everything & checked the phone directory & see you are still on W12. Am sending clips also to Penn Jones & to Helen Hartmann (St Pete Fla). Thanks again for having published ACCESSORIES a few years back. You were one of the handful who did wade thru the 20,000 pages of molasses (and not once but repeatedly) and then published a work showing to all the almost incredible complexity of involvement of so very many people. Me, I did little else over about a 2-year period than pour over the 26 vols - so you must not dismiss lightly ~~###~~ my thanks & appreciation. It must certainly require a special kind of unique head to compile anything like ACCESSORIES or the WHITEWASH series, etc. (Sorry, I can't remember if Weisburg is one of those you're at odds with.)

Whatever you are doing these days, it must be for everyone's good. So keep doing it.

All the best,

Steffen Sorensen
