Dear Sylvia:

Many thanks for your letter of September 27 which arrived earlier today with your good comments.

Enclosed are some more New Orlelans papers. Of course you by now know Jim was acquitted!!! Will send more papers when they arrive.

About the article, I agree it is lacking. I did not want to write this article; it was written at the request of Hugh L'Etang, my friend who is editor of The Practitioner, a journal of slight circulation in England and almost no circulation in America — only to large libraries. He wanted a 2,500 word article and I agreed to send him a 5,000 word article so he could cut it down. So, the editorial pen has removed much of importance; for example all of my explanation of how the lateral angle was calculated is omitted. He omitted five illustrations!!!

Sylvia, this is the nature of the findings that I have been sitting on for the past five years.

Again many thanks for your candor.

Sincerely,

John Nichols
