David Williams
Assassination Information Bureau
63 Inman Street
Cambridge, Mass. 02139

Dear Messrs. Gee and Williams,

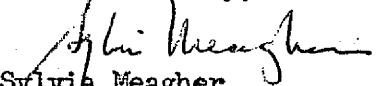

Thank you for your interesting letter of the 5th. It is the first indication I have had that there is an Assassination Information Bureau. I would like to have more information about the Bureau—when was it formed, what are its objectives, membership, financing, and the like. It is always heartening to learn that interest in the Dallas assassination remains alive and that younger people are being attracted to the issue.

Naturally I cannot react at this time to your kind suggestion that I should participate in your conference at the end of January 1975 at Boston University. I should like to know more about the program and the participants. Unfortunately, this subject mobilizes ten wild-eyed zealots for every one serious researcher, and I should be disinclined to take part in a free-for-all that did not arrive anywhere. In any case, I do not know at this time whether personal commitments would permit me to attend.

As to my books, both the Subject Index and Accessories After the Fact have both been out of print for some years. The Subject Index can be obtained solely from University Microfilms at Ann Arbor, on individual order. I have been told that Accessories can be ordered from an out-of-print dealer, Q. M. Dabney Co., Box 31061-A, Washington, D.C. 20031.

I will be glad to learn more about your plans as they develop.

Yours sincerely,
